AGRICOLA (AGRICultural OnLine Access)

This Vignettes issue offers an in-depth description of NAL's AGRICOLA database in response to the numerous inquiries the Agricultural Trade and Marketing Information Center (ATMIC) has received about AGRICOLA, its subject coverage, and access instructions.

AGRICOLA is a bibliographic database produced at the U.S. Department of Agriculture's National Agricultural Library (NAL). It consists of literature citations for journal articles, monographs, theses, patents, audio-visual materials, software, and technical reports relating to all aspects of agriculture, including food and agriculture product marketing.

An index to the document collection of the NAL, AGRICOLA is one of the largest and most comprehensive collections of agricultural literature in the world with over 2 million volumes. The database also includes indexes for materials not in the NAL collections. For such materials, NAL identifies the library owning a copy. The NAL staff and its cooperators regularly scan over 2,000 incoming journal titles for input to the database.

AGRICOLA covers a broad range of agricultural subjects, both directly and peripherally related to agriculture, life sciences, and the social sciences. AGRICOLA also contains subfiles, these are most useful for selecting USDA documents; selecting U.S. imprints; and eliminating unwanted records. The subfile field contains labels or tags indicating the source of the document. Some of the important source subfiles are:

EXP STATION	State Experiment Station
EXT	State Extension Service
FAO	Publications of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO-UN)
USDA	U.S. Department of Agriculture
OTHER US	Non-USDA U.S. Publications
OTHER FOREIGN	Non-U.S. Materials

Subjects on marketing and trade covered in AGRICOLA include: agribusiness, commodity futures trading, countertrade, country marketing profile, economic indicators, economic growth, economic trends, emerging markets, exports, global trade development, GATT, international trade, NAFTA, statistics, trade barriers, trade policies, and more.

ATMIC expanded AGRICOLA with new monographs, serials, reports, audio cassettes, videos and software, including: USDA, Economic Research Service (ERS) reports on world agriculture, USDA, Foreign Agricultural Service (FAS) marketing and trade reports; International Trade Development Centers at Land-Grant universities, and Trade Organizations market research reports.

Searching AGRICOLA

Search capabilities include Boolean (i.e., AND, OR, NOT) proximity searches, right-hand truncations, free text or field specific searches, numeric range and limit searches. Before searching the database, you may want to develop a search strategy.

A search strategy contains the key words, phrases, or terms that you wish to search and synonyms for these terms. Think of several key words for your search. For example, if your search is about "International Trade Policies," you might use: GATT, NAFTA, EFTA, TAFTA, international organizations, trade agreement, international cooperation, trade policy, economic policy, Tokyo-Round, Uruguay-Round, trade negotiations, bilateral agreements, multilateral agreements, or free trade.

Decide what publication type you want. Do you want articles only? books and articles? videos? Determine the time frame for your search. Do you want to go back 3 years, 5 years, or 10 years? Do you only want references from the past 6 months? You can also request a search by a specific title, producer, or author.

Most of the materials listed in AGRICOLA are available from the NAL. You can obtain materials from NAL through interlibrary loan at any local library: public, corporate, university, or hospital. USDA staff can borrow directly from NAL. Loans requested from NAL must comply with the provisions of the National or International Interlibrary Code and Guidelines. Requests may be submitted by libraries, by mail on ALA or IFLA ILL forms; on OCLC (NAL's symbol is AGL); by telefacsimile at (301) 504-5675; or by electronic methods including INTERNET (lending@nalusda.gov) and DOCLINE (via the National Library of Medicine).

Complete information on document delivery and interlibrary loan may be obtained from:

- Document Delivery Service Branch, National Agricultural Library, ARS/USDA, Photo Lab, 10301 Baltimore Blvd., Beltsville, MD 20705-2351. Tel: (301) 504-5755.

NAL collection holdings and Document Delivery Policy information also can be obtained via INTERNET (circinfo@nalusda.gov).

Introductory and advanced AGRICOLA training courses are offered at Beltsville and in Washington, DC. Workshops are taught by staff members at NAL. AGRICOLearn, a stand-alone, computer-based interactive video training course, is available for individual instruction on searching the AGRICOLA database. For more information, contact:

- European Union Agriculture and Fisheries CD.

The second edition of the European Union Agriculture and Fisheries CD (AGRI) has been published. This CD-ROM was jointly developed by Eurostat, the Office for Official Publications of the European Communities, and Data Service and Information GMBH, (DSI). Themes covered: Agricultural series: (includes agricultural products, agricultural prices and price indices, economic accounts for agriculture); Forestry series: (includes economic account for forestry); Fisheries series: (includes annual data on catches by species, annual data on catches by region, landings, and fishing fleet). The CD comes with the MAXDATA-CD retrieval software. The MAXDATA-CD user software allows direct access to individual databases or data series. It also offers a full-text search function of the time series descriptions, as well as the possibility of combining terms with Boolean operators. For ordering information and about the CD, please contact: DSI DATA SERVICE & INFORMATION, CD-ROM Department, P.O Box 1127, D47476 Rheinberg, Germany. Tel: + + 49 2843 3220; FAX: + + 49 2843 3230.

- Export-Import Bank of the United States (EXIMBANK) Expands Programs with Central and Eastern Europe.

Eximbank will target Central and Eastern Europe as a key market to increase U.S. exports and jobs while providing the region's reforming democracies with American goods, technology, and investment capital to strengthen their free market economies. For more information on these programs, contact: The Export Import Bank of the United States, 811 Vermont Avenue, NW, Washington, DC 20571. Tel: (202) 566-4490; FAX: (202) 566-7524. - Getting USDA Economic and Statistical Information Electronically.

The Economic Research Service (ERS), the National Agricultural Statistics Service (NASS), and the World Agricultural Outlook Board (WAOB), three agencies of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, provide data electronically in formats tailored to your needs and technologies, including modem, fax and data products on diskette and CD-ROM. Both data bases and current reports, such as crop estimates and economic forecasts, are offered, and much of the information is available without charge. Charges apply to data products on diskette or CD-ROM and certain electronic subscriptions.

Information over the Internet

The USDA economics and statistics system on the Internet is maintained by the Albert R. Mann Agricultural Library of Cornell University. There is no charge to use the system, which includes more than 140 agricultural data bases, primarily in spreadsheet (.WK1) format, and over 70 current reports. Current reports, mostly quarterly or monthly, are available within three hours of the scheduled release time. Reports are in text file format; if columns are not aligned when viewed on your monitor, change to a nonproportional type font such as Courier.

See Items, page 8

Data are distributed through a Gopher server and anonymous file transfer protocol (FTP). For access to the system, use one of the following methods:

- » Gopher: Connect to the USDA Economics and Statistics System at: usda.mannlib.cornell.edu port 70
- » Telnet: Connect to usda.mannlib.cornell.edu Log in as "usda" (no password needed) to reach the gopher
- » FTP: Connect to usda.mannlib.cornell.edu Log in as "anonymous" with your ID name or e-mail address as the password. Change the directory with the command: cd usda

For help with Internet delivery call Oya Rieger at (607) 255-2199; E-mail her at oyrl@cornell.edu; or write in care of the Albert R. Mann Library, Cornell University, Ithaca, NY 14853-4301.

NASS, ERS, and WAOB reports are available immediately after release on the Computerized Information Delivery System (CIDS) described above.

● Marketing Trade Information from FAS Available on ALF.

The Foreign Agricultural Service (FAS) of the U.S. Department of Agriculture now makes available many reports on ALF's FAS Subboard/Conference. See APPENDIX A: "Marketing Trade Information from FAS Available on ALF," compiled by Becky Thompson, Information Centers Branch, NAL. The Appendix describes various FAS reports (such as: FAS Country Market (Attache) reports, types of country reports, Mexico reports, food market reports, annual agricultural situation reports). ALF filename, file size, and description of file also are listed.

● Ocean Rate Bulletin.

The International Transportation Branch, Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS), USDA, introduced the periodical Ocean Rate Bulletin, which provides information on ocean freight rates for fruits shipped to Asia. The bulletin, produced every three weeks, tracks freight rates and carrier markets shares of fresh apples, oranges, and grapes shipped to Thailand, Singapore, the Philippines, Hong Kong, Vietnam and China. This service was implemented to give small and medium size shippers a better understanding of their transportation options, and to facilitate the export of U.S. fresh fruits throughout Asia. The Ocean Rate Bulletin is available at no cost. To request this free publication contact: Kate Healey at (202) 690-2325, or FAX: (202) 690-1340.

● Port of Copenhagen Offers Services to U.S. Exporters.

Port of Copenhagen officials have developed a new program that offers a variety of free services to American companies. This service was established to promote increased cargo traffic and to encourage investment from American companies. For more information about this service, U.S. companies can contact: Port of Copenhagen, U.S.A., 3707 Woodley Road, NW, Washington, DC 20016-5014. Tel: (202) 362-2233, FAX: (202) 362-4455. (Source: U.S. Department of Commerce).

● STAT-USA

Beginning June 15, 1995, STAT-USA will consolidate its Internet operations by shifting its collection of trade, economic, and business documents to the STAT-USA World Wide Web site: www.stat-usa.gov. The current STAT-USA gopher and file transfer protocol servers will be discontinued on that date.

Subscriptions to the STAT-USA World Wide Web information service are available for $25.95. Federal Depository Libraries continue to qualify for no-charge access.

For more information contact STAT-USA at (202) 482-1986 or send questions to stat-usa@doc.gov.
